TEN CENTS PER WEEK

MAN WANTS TO RUN BUT DOESN'T KNOW HOW TO GET VOTES

Simple Explanation of Contest for Benefit of Uninformed.

Fifty-Seven Varieties of Prizes for Hustlers.

GET AFTER EXTRA VOTES NOW.

"Really I'd like to go into that contest of yours but I can't understand what it is all about. I have read all the matter published about it, but I cannot understand how to get votes." Thus quoth a gentleman of more than average intelligence to the contest man yesterday.

For fear that there might be others who are interested but uninformed, here is a little explanation of the foundation principles of the contest: Ten thousand dollars' worth of prizes have been provided by The Sun and nine other newspapers. Fifty seven varieties of good-as-cash premiums for the popular people of this section.

The distribution of these prizes will be made according to the results of a popular vote which has already started and lasts till Aug. 4. There are two ways of voting; one is by clipping coupons from The Sun or the associated newspapers, and the other is by obtaining subscriptions to any of the papers. The latter is by far the quicker and more effective way of securing votes and will therefore be followed by all candidates who are really in the game in earnest.

That's all there is to the proposition. Fifty-seven prizes, from two fine automobiles down to twenty-five dollar district prizes—an open chance for anyone to get anyone of the prizes. There is no guarantee that you will get anything unless you hustle. When newspapers guarantee anything in the way of prizes they make sure it is mighty small, out of all proportion to the effort expended—for instance turn in to a certain newspaper $1,920 worth of impossible-to-be-secured subscriptions and you will be started on a glad some untemper weeks tour of somebody's fatherland.

For detailed description of what the prizes are and exactly how they may be won, you are referred to the rules of the contest published below. Anything not covered in that explanation will be gladly explained by any of the contest force with any of the associated newspapers.

Don't Forget the Bonus.

As announced yesterday effort expended by candidates at this stage of the game will count them far more than it will at any later period of the contest. FIFTY THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES, OVER AND ABOVE THE REGULAR SCALE, WILL BE GIVEN FOR EVERY $25.00 WORTH OF NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS TO ANY OF THE ASSOCIATED PAPERS, TURNED IN BEFORE 9:00 P. M., SATURDAY, JUNE 5.

Rules of the Contest.

SMUGGLING CHINAMEN.

Chicago, May 28.—Americans, Mexicans and Chinese are charged with leading the most successful scheme of smuggling Chinese into the United States discovered since the passage of the Chinese exclusion act. They were brought here today from El Paso, Texas. Their trial is expected to show that several thousand Chinamen were smuggled into this country during the past few years.

WATERWAYS BILL.

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—Senator-Elect Lorimer remained here today and visited both branches of the legislature, but an effort to reach an agreement upon the waterway bill, which suits Lorimer and Deneen did not succeed. Lorimer probably will leave Saturday for Chicago and thence go to Washington.

SOLDIERS LACK INTEREST.

Noxapater, Miss., May 28.—Incipient mutiny among troops hunting Thomas Atkinson, the convict who escaped 25 years ago, threatens to end the man hunt. Every possible obstacle has been thrown in the way of troops. It is said a disinclination of the soldiers to continue the search may force Governor Noel to abandon his plan to rearrest Atkinson.

MANY STRANDED.

Marcellus, May 28.—Appeal was made to the perfect today to supply passengers stranded here as the result of the sailors' strike, with conveyances to their destinations or send them back to their homes. The perfect declared the government is unable to give relief. Hundreds had scant means when they arrived and now are practically penniless. Many Americans are awaiting the opportunity to sail. Only a few need relief.

Capt. Stone Re-Elected

Madisonville, Ky., May 28. (Special.)—The second brigade, Kentucky Confederates, selected Fulton as the meeting place for 1910. Captain W. J. Stone was re-elected commander over Captain Ellis.

W. O. W. Memorial

Next Sunday the members of Sunny Side camp of Woodmen of the World will hold memorial services in the Thompson cemetery, one-half mile south of Florence Station. The lodge members will meet at the lodge room at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and with the Polsondale brass band will march to the cemetery, where the exercises will be held. Speeches will be delivered, but the orators have not been selected.

Moro's Kill Soldiers

Manila, May 28.—A sergeant and two privates of the United States soldiers were slaughtered during a fight with Moro bandits on the Roman river, May 22, according to advice received at army headquarters today. The Moros surprised an outpost of the Eighth infantry. The infantry is in pursuit.

First Train Moves

Atlanta, May 28.—The first train to move over the Georgia Central since Sunday left the station today for Augusta, loaded with mail matter. In the cab was a union engineer and a negro fireman. There was a big crowd at the station but no disorder.

Further conference with the view of ending the strike is being held today. A mail train also left Augusta for Atlanta. Both sides agree that moving of the mail shall have no bearing on the merits of the strike. It does not mean other traffic will be resumed soon.

SENATOR BRADLEY ASSAILS TOBACCO TRUST IN SENATE

Keeps Pledge to Speak in Favor of Reduction of Tariff.

To Permit Free Sale Farmers' Product.

SUGAR SCHEDULES ARE PASSED.

Washington, May 28.—Senator Bradley, of Kentucky, described the reasons for "night riding" in Kentucky and Tennessee; the rapacity of the tobacco trust, and showed the necessity for a repeal of the six cent tax on leaf tobacco in order to enable the planter to sell his products as freely as growers of other products.

Senator Bradley described the American Tobacco company, how it had devoured competitors. Out of these cases, he said, "without justification not wholly without reason, grew the terrible conditions that afflicted Kentucky and Tennessee. The profitable market that prevailed for tobacco, was destroyed by the combine, and an arbitrary price, that was a mere pittance, was fixed at home by a conspiracy of fraud."

"It is in the power of congress by proper legislation to furnish a remedy. That remedy will be by removing all tax and restrictions from the sale of leaf tobacco in the natural state," said Bradley.

"It remained for the Democratic party to repeal the McKinley bill, by the passage of the Wilson bill, which has been the fruitful source of all our woe."

The Sugar Schedule.

The sugar schedule was reported by the finance committee today and agreed to by the senate.

Barley and Reporter Fight. Washington, May 28.—Senator Bailey, of Texas, and W. S. Manning, representative of the New York Times, in the senate press gallery, exchanged blows just as the senate adjourned last evening, as a result of a conversation they had in reference to an article printed by the New York newspaper, questioning the sincerity of the senator in his course on the income tax. Neither of the participants was injured.

Wallersteins vs. Weille's.

The Wallersteins and the Weille baseball teams will meet on the diamond in the rear of the Illinois Central shops Sunday afternoon in a battle royal. Both are rivals and a strong game is promised. Hofflich will be in the box for the Wallersteins team with H. Mercer behind the bat, while Council or Dunbar will twirl for the Weille team.

Christian Revival.

The meeting at Christian chapel on Goebel avenue is to continue until Sunday night. Baptizing this evening at 7 o'clock; preaching at 7:45. Subject: "Two Ways," Matt. 7:13. Evangelist A. O. Colley, of Martin, Tenn., is doing the preaching. Everybody invited to attend.

NOT FRANK NICHOLSON

OF PADUCAH IN TOPEKA

After correspondence with officials in Topeka, Kas., Mr. J. F. Nicholson has reached the opinion that Frank Nicholson, who was injured in a storm in Kansas City is not his long lost son. When the accident occurred Mr. Nicholson was advised that the man was his son, and he began an investigation at once before making a trip to sea, and has learned that the man was reared in Ohio, and is working as a railroad conductor. Mr. Nicholson's son by the same name left home six years ago and went west, and for five years nothing has been heard from him. Relatives received telegrams, announcing that the injured man was Frank Nicholson, of Paducah, but these were mistakes.

The Opening Sermon.

The Rev. W. A. Banks, of Oak Level, preached the opening sermon last night to a large congregation, representing the city churches as well as the delegates. His talk was based on the life of Paul, who, he said, excelled the greatest man of his time, though no greater than any other man in his time could be by consecration and the gift of all his powers to God. He said Christianity demands that we give our all to Christ, and it is only by so doing that a man accomplishes all that is possible for the work of the kingdom. He said there is a place for every man to work, and a work for every man to do, according to his gifts.

Holy communion was observed after the sermon.

I. C. SHOPS WILL OPEN FULL FORCE, IS REPORT FROM MEMPHIS MEETING

Have Been Running With Limited Number For Several Months Since Financial Panic.

MASTER MECHANIC J. H. NASH HAS RETURNED FROM CONFERENCE REGARDING EXPENSES OF RAILROAD

Payroll Will Add Thousands Monthly to Channels of Retail Trade in Paducah.

In a short time the railroad shops of the Illinois Central railroad will open with a full force of employees. This statement was made this morning by J. H. Nash, master mechanic, after he had returned from Memphis, where an expense meeting was held by the officials of the railroad. No date has been set for a general resumption of the force, but it may be next week or during the first days of June.

The news that the shops will go on full force will cause rejoicing among the railroad employees, as well as the business men, for the recent pay days have been slim, as compared with the amount of money turned loose when running full force. It was generally expected that the shops would not open until after the close of the fiscal year of the railroad, which will be June 30. Press of business however has forced the officials to open the shops to supply rolling stock for the railroad.

The revival of business will be general over the Illinois Central railroad, as an increase will be made at the Burnside shops in Chicago. For some time the local railroad officials have been pushed to supply motive power for the trains, as the appropriation for the shops would not allow the employment of a sufficient force to keep all the locomotives in repair, as some of the large freight engines have been placed on the side tracks.

The present force at the shops is the smallest in years as there were three reductions in the force, and some of the oldest employees were laid off. At present the shops are working eight hours a day, but it is presumed that the time will be extended to ten hours a day when the increase is made. However, this is not known definitely, but it is customary to increase the working hours during the summer. About 500 men are employed at the shops now, and with the increase about 400 more men will be added to the working force.

H. W. Jennings Recovering.

H. W. Jennings is recovering from an injury to his left leg as the result of a piece of rock striking him. Mr. Jennings was working on the Panama canal, and following the discharge of a blast a piece of rock struck him in the leg. The wound was not serious, but he and Mrs. Jennings came to Paducah on a visit. Since being in the city the injury has become worse, and he is in the Illinois Central hospital. The leg is not paining him, but his physicians refuse to permit him to use it.

Must Not Use Tobacco.

Denver, Colo., May 28.—Clergymen and laymen should not use tobacco, but it is not contrary to the principles of the church for Presbyterian judges to grant saloon licenses. This was decided by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

The assembly thus expressed itself in approving the report of the temperance committee after a long discussion. The report commended President Taft, Emperor William and

Mr. Campbell has been in charge of the Paducah branch ever since it started, and tobacco men, as well as planters, will be glad to know he is to continue here. He has been very successful in attracting the attention of buyers and securing good prices for his clients. Eight thousand pounds were sold today, with no rejections, at prices ranging from $4.30 to $8.50.

BASEBALL FEVER STRIKES CAPITAL

Federal Department Have Their Own League.

Expressions of Approval and Sorrow Affect the President's Golf.

HE WOULD ENJOY PRIVACY.

Washington, May 28.—The national capital is in the throes of its annual summer struggle between the various executive departments for supremacy on the baseball diamond. This would be apparent to any visitor who should happen to stroll down to the White Lot any afternoon. This plot of ground is the big lawn-covered oval back of the white house. Every afternoon from 2 to 3 baseball games are in full swing there.

Each department has an organized team and all are members of the departmental league. A silver trophy cup goes to the winner each year, and the games draw several thousand fans to the white lot every afternoon. The department of the interior recently played its first winning game. The next day Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, was dined in the office of Robert G. Valentine, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs, who was acting head of his bureau in Commissioner Leupp's absence.

"There were only nine men from the interior down at yesterday's game," said Dennett. "Don't you think we could get more men out? You know interior's got to win that pennant this year and I guess that it's up to the land office and the Indian office to furnish the players."

"I think something should be done about it myself," agreed Valentine.

"That was a good pitcher you had in yesterday," said Dennett; "have you any more like that little fellow?"

"I really didn't know he was in my office," said Valentine. Whereupon he pressed a button and sent for the pitcher. It was the first time the young man had ever been summoned before his chief and he came in fully expecting to be disciplined.

"That was a good game you pitched yesterday," said Valentine, "and we want to congratulate you on it. This is the commissioner of the general land office and he liked your work very much."

The youngster's face brightened. "But my arm wasn't in shape at all. I threw it out trying to get down the spit ball last Sunday," he remarked.

"See here," said Valentine, "you must get more men out for the game. If we have only nine men we have no substitutes. See if you can't get the boys interested." And the youth departed.

"I'm helping all I can," said Dennett, "my chief clerk has orders to let the players leave at 4 o'clock."

Valentine rang for his chief clerk. "Let the ball players in this bureau go at 3:55 o'clock," he ordered.

No Privacy in Golf.

Too much friendly curiosity on the part of the public threatens to end President Taft's golf playing. After the recent game with Walter Travis, late champion of the United States, General Edwards and F. Odgen Horstman, of this city, he expressed himself rather forcibly on the matter and said he had just about reached the conclusion that he would be obliged to quit golf altogether.

"I had hoped," he said, "that I might play once or twice a week, but if a crowd attends every time I go to the links, I'll have to stop. There is no fun in going around the course with a lot of people at your heels."

The officials of the Chevy Chase Golf club have done and will do everything in their power to guard the president against outside interference, but as the links cover a great deal of ground, and are not surrounded by trespasser-proof fences, it is impossible to prevent outsiders from trailing in behind the president. By the time he has made half a dozen holes he has a "gallery" of twenty or thirty persons plodding along at a more or less respectful distance behind him. Every time he makes a good drive there is a delightful chorus of "Good!" "Great!" "Fine work!" "Isn't he in grand form today?"—and when his ball goes wrong there is just as heartfelt an outburst.

of "Too bad!" "Isn't it a pity!" "What a shame."

The president is not of a nervous disposition, but he would certainly feel more at ease if he were not followed during his play. When he first began golfing in Washington, soon after the inauguration, he proceeded to the links unaccompanied by the secret service guards, but lately they have been in his party.

"The president needs the physical exercise that golf affords," said one of the army officers who frequently accompanies the executive on his recreation trips, "and I believe that if the public at large knew that it was his earnest desire to be alone, they would make no further attempts to watch his game."

LARGE CONCOURSE

ATTENDS FUNERAL OF CENTRAL CITY VICTIMS OF FIRE.

Impressive Ceremonies for Little Dorothy and Zelma Allen—Another Child May Die.

Central City, Ky., May 28.—The largest crowd of people that ever attended a funeral at Central City assembled at the Baptist church here to pay their last respects to two little girls, Dorothy and Zelma Allen, victims of the accidental fire at the Gish opera house Monday evening.

The little girls were general favorites in this city and their sudden taking away bowed with grief the entire community. The Rev. Irvine Goddard, Episcopal minister at Owensboro, conducted the services. The two little white caskets containing the remains of the victims of the holocaust were literally covered with flowers, as were the graves to which they were consigned. The pallbearers were little girl schoolmates, dressed in white, and following them were sixty other small girls arrayed in the same color. They were members of the Sunbeam society, with which the dead children were affiliated. Several beautiful selections were sung at the funeral and grave by the Central City quartet.

Mrs. B. C. Boyd, the music teacher, who was leader of the entertainment given by the little girls when the accident took place, continues in a critical condition. Fears that she will be a nervous wreck when she recovers are entertained by her friends. She will lose the use of one of her hands, which will practically eliminate her from playing her vocation, that of a music teacher. She is receiving the sympathy and encouragement of everyone, for it was her presence of mind that saved at least a score of children from meeting the same fate as the four who are dead.

Rena May Miller, another one of the children who were seriously burned, is still in a critical condition.

ADOPTING OUR METHODS.

Japanese Theaters Taking Up Work Of the West.

The school of acting that has just been opened in the Sakuragawa-cho here by the "Duse of the East," Sada Yakkō, wife of the Japanese theatre reformer, Otajaro Kawakami, has so far only fifteen girls, ranging in age from 16 to 22 years. All the would-be actresses are from the cultivated classes, one, indeed, being the daughter of an official. The opening of this school is the latest proof of the growing tolerance in Japan of Western ideas, especially as regards the theatre. It was about the year 1639 when O'Kuni, a singer of the lower classes, performed before the shogun a song in pantomime, that women were prohibited from the stage and the theaters, and males took the parts of the gentler sex. The theater became so immoral that it was finally entirely banned. And it was not until the appearance of Danjuro, aided by the Italian actor, Martino, that the educated and aristocratic Japanese again became interested in the actor. Once the ice was broken, even notabilities in Japan did not close their doors to the "professional."

It was left for the merchant-actor, editor Kawakami and his wife to legitimize the appearance of the female together with the male on the stage. Since the edict of the shogun in the seventeenth century, Sada Yakkō was not the first woman to appear on the stage; she was, however, the first to appear with males. To Sada Yakkō and her husband is also due the reorganization of the Japanese theater, for they declared war on the old regime and called for a free theater in which were to be realistically produced the latest Western productions. When Kawakami married Sada Yakkō he decided to modernize his native theatre. For this purpose the couple toured Europe successfully, and after a season in London embarked for Japan. There a large following of friends tried to persuade the pair to organize a company. Sada Yakkō, however, declared that she could not play in the Japanese fashion, because European ways were so different. Finally Baron Kaneko persuaded the actress to try to please her countrymen. After this hardly any trouble was experienced in the modernizing of the native theater. "Monna Vanna" and "Othello" were played in European costumes, and Kawakami's "Soshi Shiba" (young theater) has since been drawing full houses.

Nevertheless, some have remained true to the "old" theater, although the number is steadily growing smaller, especially since the organization of the Teikoku-Gekijo-Kabushiki-Kaisha, or theater association, by Marquis Ito and other noted personages. The two lagrets theaters in Japan, the Kabuki, in Tokyo, and Kawakami's house, in Osaka, have been rebuilt after the European style. The former, which is a very large and beautiful building, has a special box for the Emperor, and others for distinguished native and foreign guests. Although in the old native theater the noted actor Ballo, Silkan, Kikugoro and others continue to reign in

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a Gas Stove or Gas Range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which, of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

Buffalo Bill on His Feet.

New York, May 28.—"Buffalo Bill" Cody and "Pawnee Bill," otherwise known as Major General W. L. Lillie, have purchased the interest of the late James A. Bailey in what is known now as "Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East Show." It was announced here last night. This indicated to the friends of Col. Cody that he had retrieved his fortune. James A. Bailey steadfastly refused to part with his interest in Cody's show, but since his death his widow has expressed a desire to eliminate his name from the show business.

Carries $1,808,000 Six Blocks.

Austin, Tex., May 28.—Sheriff Geo. Matthews was today allowed a fee of $4,542 by Judge Charles A. Wilcox of the district court for his services in escorting the Waters-Pierce Oil company's anti-trust fine of $1,808,000 from the banks to the state treasury, a distance of six blocks. The money was conveyed to the treasury in automobiles, which made a record-breaking run up the street. Sheriff Matthews and four special deputies accompanied the money. Matthews' award will be paid out of the receipts of the company from its Texas business, which is in the hands of a state receiver.

EVANSVILLE TRACTION CO. REFUSES TO ARBITRATE.

Street Car Men May Go Out at Any Moment—Ben Commons Is On Hand.

Evansville, Ind., May 28.—Late this afternoon officers of the Evansville and Southern Indiana Traction company sent a reply to President Isaac Hornbrook, who is at the head of the Central Labor Union Executive Committee, refusing the offer of the committee to submit their grievance with the local street-car men to arbitration. At a meeting of the car men, lasting until 3 o'clock this morning, the Central Labor Union was authorized to ask the company to submit the question of arbitration to a committee of five, two members from the Central Labor Union, two from the Traction company and the fifth member to be appointed by these four.

In their reply the company say they will not submit the question to arbitration as long as the recognition of the union is the basis. It is now thought a strike is inevitable.

Ben Commons, national organizer for the car men, who is in the city, is authority for the statement that the company has imported strike-breakers from Louisville and that they are screening many of their car windows and getting ready for a strike.

CLAIM ARSENAL

MRS. MARION FOSTER WELSH STATES HER RIGHTS.

Daughter of Author of "Old Kentucky Home"—Her Grandfather a Patriot.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 28.—Mrs. Marion Foster Welsh, of Monterey street, north side, widowed daughter of the late famous song writer, Stephen C. Foster, author of "My Old Kentucky Home," etc., took preliminary steps toward reclaiming the United States arsenal grounds at Pittsburgh, which have recently been leased to Pittsburgh as a park by the secretary of war. Mrs. Welsh has hired an attorney and notified Mayor William A. Magee, of her intentions.

Mrs. Welsh declares that her grandfather, William Foster, gave the United States the arsenal property about the time of the war of 1812, the one provision being that it always be used for military purposes. She claims the lease to Pittsburgh is a direct violation of this agreement and now wishes to reclaim the property for herself and other descendants of the Foster family. Two Philadelphiaans, grandchildren of Henry Foster, brother of the famous old song writer, are also expected to share. Mrs. Welsh also seeks to collect $50,000 with interest since 1853 from the government.

She alleges that her grandfather spent this amount in fitting out an expedition for the relief of Gen. Jackson at New Orleans and that in 1853 he sued the United States government for it and was awarded a verdict, but it has never been paid.

Mrs. Welsh, who left for Washington, alleges that the records of the suit instituted by her grandfather and won, are still in existence at Washington, also a record of the judge's address in which he paid high tribute to William Foster as a patriot. Mrs. Welsh says her grandfather did not insist on collecting this money at the time, because the country was still poor.

Display of Tariff Exhibits

Washington, May 28. (United Press)—If the various exhibits that have been used by senators to illustrate their remarks on the tariff were to be placed on view at the same time the interior of the senate chamber would look like a department store.

Dolliver, of Iowa, was the first to bring actual objects on the floor in order to illuminate his arguments. He produced samples of silks which he handled with as much deftness as a saleslady, but with a different object in view. His purpose was to show that a great deal of cotton enters into the manufacture of some so-called silks and that that cotton has to pay the same rate as though the fabric was all silk.

McCumber, of North Dakota, who wants lumber put on the free list, produced samples of partly-finished woods to show how cheaply, with the modern machinery now in use, the mills can plane one, two or three sides at one operation.

Daniel, of Virginia, showed a piece of sole leather tanned by the product of his native forests with only a small percentage of the foreign quebracho in order to show that the latter ought to be kept out by high duties to protect the American makers of tanning extracts.

Penrose, of Pennsylvania, introduced samples of the frame-work of umbrellas, the rods and ribs all made of steel, for the purpose of justifying the slightly increased rates proposed on these articles. Incidentally he announced that the manufacture of umbrellas with wooden sticks had practically been abandoned in this country.

Lodge, of Massachusetts, had an interesting collection of watches to show. Most of them were very small watches such as ladies wear. The question at issue was whether it would be possible for the manufacturers to stamp upon some parts of the works the name of the maker.

the name of the importer and the name of the country in which the article was made. In support of his contention that such a requirement should be insisted upon so that a purchaser in this country could know just what he was buying, Mr. Lodge produced a small medal, about the size of a dime, upon which, in perfect legible characters, was stamped, on one side, the fact that it was made at the United States mint in Philadelphia, and, on the other, the complete Lord's prayer.

Smoot, of Utah, contributed largely to the gaiety of one day's session, and, incidentally strongly bolstered up his argument by exhibiting razors. Upon these the pending bill "puts higher duties. Mr. Smoot showed that his razors, which were marked on the box to sell for $3 each, were imported at a cost of less than $12 a dozen, and he declared that it would make no difference to the individual purchaser if the tariff on razors should be increased even 200 or 300 per cent, they would not have to pay any more for them. Mr. Smoot was so earnest in the way in which he brandished his razors under the nose of one of the southern senators to whom he had taken it for examination that he was jokingly accused by a fellow member of having terrorized him into submission. Smoot also showed samples of woolen cloths.

Flint, of California, produced samples of French chinaware which cost, duty paid, at the port of New York, about $10 a set and which were on sale in Washington stores at $36. This was to illustrate his argument that the tariff was not responsible for the high rates that consumers have to pay so much as the middlemen, the jobbers and the retailers, all of whom have to have their profits and have to calculate on breakages, clerk hire, interest, rents, etc.

But perhaps the most impressive display was that made by Senator Scott, of West Virginia, who is himself a manufacturer of the higher grades of glassware. He had his desk, and those of several other neighboring senators, covered with an exhibition of cheap glassware not made by his own factory. There were water-pitchers, bowls, salad dishes and other things, and Scott's explanation of how the price of these articles to the consumer had been reduced since the glass works of this country had been protected by a tariff interested the senate immensely. These exhibits have proven so enlightening to senators that it is probable they will be continued when other schedules are under consideration.

My commission expires January 10, 1912.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Police Judge.

The Sun is authorized to announce the candidacy of Mr. Thomas N. Hazell for police judge, city of Paducah, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Daily Thought.

No one knows all there is to know about anything. If you have stopped making new discoveries in your work, something is wrong with you.

We wonder whether Mr. Taft found in the solid south, or only the semi-fluid south.

So far as we know Senator Aldrich hasn't received a single threatening letter so far.

Bryan must slap himself on the back every time he imagines himself trying to secure a free trade law with those sugar and lumber Democrats.

Reed Smoot's wives, we understand, took no part in the hosiery protest, and yet that question ought to be a vital one in every Mormon family.

In recognition of the presence in our midst today of a host of good Methodists, we recall the fact that a church convention is about the only one, whose delegates are welcomed guests at the homes of strangers.

The Commercial Appeal need feel no concern for the convivial pretzel after June. Fifteen thousand pretzel makers are on a strike in the east, and the entire western product finds a ready market.

JAILED AND ALMSHOUSES.

Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane deplores the sanitary conditions of Kentucky jails and almshouses, and if they are in the conditions she describes, we are glad she is touring the state. No other two institutions are so likely to fall into the ways of politics and become subjects of abuse. Jail birds and beggars have few friends. Anything is good enough for them. Yet no institutions are more closely associated with the vital interests of society. Unfortunately, as well as hardened criminals, get into jail. Science is beginning to learn that much crime is due to physical deformity arrested development and disease. We have county and city physicians, acquainted, we assume, with the laws of hygiene and their relations to sociological problems. It is just as much the duty of the medical profession to look after general health conditions as to minister to the wants of the individual when sick. In other words, the obligation of the profession to the public is as great as its obligation to the individual, and a hundred times more so when the professional man holds public office and is paid by the public.

Our jails should be places, not of punishment but of confinement and correction. Those inmates eventually be set free. They should be set free in better physical, and moral condition than when entered, if possible. This is not possible under bad sanitary and hygienic conditions. The money saved, in starving and abusing prisoners is lost again through the effect on the brute, which the jail will turn loose on the community.

The inmates of the almshouses are human, and entitled to humane treatment. It is not sufficient to feed them on bad food and house them in unsanitary and bad hygienic conditions. Many of the inmates are old people—profligate old people, sometimes—but respect for age is worth consideration, and who knows who will be in the almshouse when he or she grows old and has no friends. Old people require special care and provision. They are entitled to it by reason of their age, regardless of their past, and we hope that the visit of Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane will result in reforming conditions, if they are found to be bad.

The sensitiveness of a monopoly to industrial and agricultural conditions is marvelous. Because cereals are going up, Chicago packers have put up the price of meat in anticipation of a shortage in supply next year. If cereals should drop in the meantime those packers would feel foolish, taking fright so quickly. But they wouldn't give any of the money back.

THE ILLINOIS EARTHQUAKE.

The Republican press of Illinois is not pleased with the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate. The rendering of the deadlock in the Illinois legislature was attended by an earthquake that did considerable damage over the state, and Lorimer had 55 Republican and 53 Democratic votes. The shake-up in the state was political as well as seismic. What hurts the press is that Hopkins, had as he is, was endorsed at the state primary for re-election, but the legislators, whose districts went against Hopkins, took that as authority to do as they pleased and the combination was formed. Some Democratic papers, of course, are not pleased to think that their legislators deserted the Democratic nominee.

However, popular endorsements of men of the Hopkins stripe, who depend on the rotten boroughs of Chicago to carry them through the tide of down state disapproval, are not of sustaining quality. In Oregon Republican legislators considered themselves sufficiently bound to elect a Democrat to the United States senate, but he was a good man. There's the difference, and the power of public opinion held them to account.

"DRYS" VICTORIOUS

MADISON COUNTY, IND., VOTES OUT SALOONS.

Crawford and Owen Also For Local Option—Anderson the Only Oasis.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Local option elections were held in Crawford, Owen and Madison counties, the latter containing the city of Anderson, with 27,000 population and in which the hardest struggle of the temperance campaign has been in progress for the last three weeks. Crawford county voted dry by a majority of 810 votes, and Owen joined the same column with a majority of 1,011 votes.

The fight in Madison county was the hardest that the two opposite forces have ever waged. Women stood in the rain at the polls all day and served hot lunches to the local option voters, in many cases holding umbrellas over them while they ate. The lame, the halt and the blind were carried to the polls and many voters, too ill to walk were placed on stretchers and taken to the voting places against advice of their physicians.

Reports from the out-townships were slow in coming in and much trouble was experienced in getting authentic returns, but the indications are that the county is "dry" by a majority of 1,470.

The "wets" carried the city of Anderson by 774 votes, but the cities of Elwood and Alexandria, both claimed by the "wets" voted "dry."

On the docket for this afternoon: Breach of peace—Alex Venters and Wes Pempleton; Clint Arnold, George Taylor, Fred Schroeder, William Majors, Will Martin and Virge Lesieur were arrested last night by Patrolmen Stewart and England on a charge of sleeping in a box car. In Circuit Court.

The trial of the case of Dr. H. T. Hegg against Felix G. Rudolph, public administrator, for $21,000 damages for malicious prosecution, was entered into, but on motion of the plaintiff it was dismissed without prejudice.

Deeds Filed.

John G. Smith to Beulah Y. Williams, property in Maplewood terrace, $1 and other considerations.

Fiscal Court.

Fiscal court will meet in regular session next Tuesday. It is thought that the Vincennes Bridge company will present its bond of $40,000 as a guarantee for the faithful performance of its contract in the erection of the bridges over Clark's river and Perkins' creek. The company sent one bond signed by residents of Indiana, but to prevent the possible necessity of any suits in federal court, the county officials thought it best to require the company to give a bond signed by citizens of Kentucky. If a personal bond is given. It is understood that the company has completed arrangements for a Paducah bank to go on its bond; but if this fails the company will give a bond with a guaranty company as security. The bridge company has desired to give a personal bond, as a bond of $40,000 would require a premium of considerable size.

Prof. John D. Smith and Magistrate George Broadfoot are still working on the books of Hiram Smedley, former county clerk. They may make a report to the court, but they will be unable to finish the books by next Tuesday.

Keeps Bowels Open; Free

There is no function of the human body so important as keeping the bowels open. Upon the condition of the bowels, more than upon any other one thing, depends the health and well-being of the entire system. There is scarcely a sickness that has not got constipation and stomach trouble complicated with it. It is at the bottom of most of the serious diseases of life.

Every grown up human being ought to have at least one full and easy evacuation of the bowels every 24 hours. But unfortunately there are thousands who do not get this. No matter what is the nature or cause of their constipation, and no matter how chronic and long-standing it is, they will not find a better cure than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. So confident are the dispensers of this wonderful laxative that it will cure any case of constipation in young or old that they will send a free test bottle to anyone who sends name and address to Dr. Caldwell.

The sample will do for any constipated person what it did for Mrs. W. D. Fuller, of Eaton Rapids, Mich., for Mr. J. F. Edwards, of Lebanon, Tenn., and a host of others in all sections of the country. After having used the sample they will do as Mrs. Fuller and Mr. Edwards did, which is to go to the nearest drug store and buy a regular bottle, which costs 50 cents on $1, according to the size. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a tablet or powder, but a liquid laxative tonic, which is what a good constipation remedy should be. Thousands, who once sent for the free test bottle, now have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin regularly in the house. It is the most scientific blending of laxative ingredients ever put before the world.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 527 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Fame.
In the town of G— in one of the southern states, a school teacher was holding a public examination of the pupils, and questioning them on general topics.

Among others, he put the following question, referring to Grover Cleveland, "What celebrated man was born in Buffalo, N. Y.?"

A hand instantly went up from the class, and upon the teacher's nodding permission to speak, a boy shouted confidently, "Buffalo Bill."

BIG INDUSTRY THIS HAS GROWN

Fifty Million Dollars Moving Picture Shows.

Attendance Last Year Four Millions a Day—Nearly 190 Miles of Film.

SEVEN THOUSAND THEATERS

While baseball undoubtedly deserves its title as the national sport of America, there is at least one other diversion which attracts a greater number of Americans. About 10,000,000 persons paid admissions to baseball games in the record-breaking season of 1908; the moving picture show drew an attendance of 4,000,000 daily, a total attendance of more than a billion; or an average of one visit a month to this form of amusement for every man, woman, and child in the whole country, says the New York Evening Post.

Already this infant industry has developed to a point where $50,000,000 is invested in it, and 7,000 moving picture houses are scattered over the country. Of the larger cities, Chicago has at present 313 moving-picture shows, and probably will have 500 before the end of the present year. New York has 300, St. Louis 205, Philadelphia 186, San Francisco 131, Pittsburgh 90, and Boston 31. Hundreds of smaller cities and towns have from one to a dozen, and the craze has extended to Mexico, Central and South American, and the Panama Canal Zone.

Nearly 1,000,000 feet, or 190 miles, of films are shown every day in the United States. At the average rate of speed fourteen separate pictures pass the eye every second that the machine is in motion, so that every day making of these films is in itself an enormous business. The organization which controls them not only has agents photographing scenes in every part of the world, but maintains theaters and out-of-door establishments, where complete plays and all sort of other activities are presented before the camera.

Until recently, theaters were, as a rule, segregated in certain sections of the large cities. Cities like New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, cover such areas that the working people had little or no time after returning from their day's work to travel to a distant section for recreation. Besides, it was expensive. To a man who has to support a family on small earnings every nickel counts, and carfare is a serious consideration.

At the Doors of the Poor. Instead of the millions of these people having to go to the moving picture show, it has come to them. In every neighborhood in the large cities these shows have been established. In fact they are most numerous.

ous in the thickly populated parts of the city. The moving picture exhibitor does not have to go to the expense of constructing a theater. His equipment is so simple that all that is necessary is to rent a store or hall, to comply with fire regulations, and to ornament it inexpensively. The cost is insignificant compared to that of equipping the regulation type of theater, while the charge of a nickel or a dime brings within the reach of millions of persons a form of entertainment which formerly they could not afford.

Vaudeville managers did not foresee a few years ago that moving picture shows would chase out vaudeville itself and become a new and extensive national institution. But this is precisely what has happened. Within the last year at least a thousand theaters in the United States which formerly made an exclusive specialty of vaudeville have been forced to abandon that style of amusement for moving pictures. Where but a year or two ago vaudeville in these theaters was the important feature, and moving-picture scenes incidental, the condition is now reversed. If a remnant of vaudeville remains, it is merely confined to a singer or two who carol an accompaniment to a pathetic or humorous picture thrown upon the screen.

Purifying Movement.
It is because the moving-picture show has become so firmly established as an amusement for the masses that movements are under way in many cities to improve the quality of the pictures shown.

There is in progress a winnowing out process that is improving the quality and influence of the pictures displayed. It is recognized that depictions of train robberies, kidnappings, and arson, drunkenness, assaults and murders, have anything but a salutary effect upon the minds of spectators, especially in the case of youthful persons, who attend moving picture performances in great numbers. In most cases these views were poorly posed—were "faked," to use the term employed in the business—and bore no resemblance to real life.

At one time a considerable proportion of the moving picture views made in the United States were "fakes." Scenes supposed to show Boers and Britons in deadly conflict really represented mobs of "supers" charging up or down Jersey hillside, and subjects as "the convict's escape" and "the drunkard's home" were posed with only the crudest attempt at genuine realism. Nine of the largest concerns in the United States and Europe recently combined. They will now censor all films and say they will efface the vicious features of the business. There are still a few film manufacturers not included in this combination, which is called a trust by its opponents.

Used For Special Purposes.
One of the peculiar developments of the moving picture business is the demand for views for special purposes. Manufacturers, lecturers on travel and other topics, prohibition agitators, and others interested in persuading the public to accept their statements, find the moving picture a valuable adjunct. In a recent case in which a New York transportation company was sued for injuries said to have been caused to a boy in an accident, moving pictures were produced in court by the defendant as part of the evidence. They showed the boy at play in the street and were intended to prove that he was not as badly injured as had been asserted.

With Twentieth century enterprises the anti-saloon leagues and prohibitionist lecturers in various states have introduced moving pictures as a substitute for the "horrible examples" exhibited by John B. Gough and his contemporaries. The modern substitute shows the supposed drunkard in the act of beating his wife or pawing his babies' shoes and later reeling down the street. Such views have been exhibited in a number of states in recent campaigns, and have helped to stir up popular feeling against the liquor business.

Emphasis is being placed upon the educational value of moving picture views. The proposal has been made by the head of the People's Institute in New York to introduce them in the public schools in order to instruct the children.

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA

Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair—Many Treatments were Futile—Baby had Milk-Crust.

BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair, which was very heavy. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This left the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff, and after the hair was dry, I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment into the time sparingly, into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My troubles with dandruff were cleared up, and my daughter's hair is growing again. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called 'milk-crust' on baby's head, and have never found anything to equal them. You are at liberty to publish this letter, for I do sincerely believe that the Cuticura Remedies are a blessing to mankind." Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1908.

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful cures for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed, when necessary, by a mild dose of Cuticura (liquid or pills) is often sufficient to afford immediate relief of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, irritations and inflammations, prevent rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

601,699 VETERANS

STILL ON GOVERNMENT PENSION ROLL—200,000 G. A. R.

Members Are Dying Off Rapidly—Loss of 25,000 Since 1907—515 Votes.

Chicago, May 28.—When the veterans of the 6,057 posts of the Grand Army of the Republic assembled for the roll call on Memorial day the gaps in the ranks will be greater than ever before, for records in Chicago show that since May 30, 1908, nearly 15,000 have passed to the last muster. The Army now numbers barely 200,000. Less than 20 years ago there was double that number and even on December 31, 1907, the various departments showed a total membership of 225,157. One by one, however, and two by two, the men who fought at Gettysburg and Chancellorsville and Antietam have dropped from the ranks and each year fewer voices have answered to the roll call. The death rate that twenty years ago was less than one percent has now increased to five per cent. Slowly but surely the ranks of the equally brave Confederate veterans have dwindled until today but a tithe of Early's men and Morgan's troopers and the almost invincible armies of Lee and Beauregard. Not all the survivors are included in organizations, however. The rolls of the government still carried on the first of this month the names of 601,699 veterans of the Civil war. New York state leads in the number of posts with 598, followed by Pennsylvania, 526, Ohio, 520, and Illinois, 515. The United Confederate veterans was organized June 10, 1889, and has 1,300 camps, with a membership of about 60,000. Since the war many of the veterans have scattered and camps are now located in the northwest and on the Pacific coast as well as in the southern states.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch, of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat, Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by all druggists.

From Bench to Sweeping Streets.

East St. Louis, Ill., May 28.—Forced by the order of his physician to resign the office of Police Magistrate and to obtain employment where he could enjoy pure air and outdoor exercise, Thomas Stanton, a well-known baseball umpire, has started to work as a street sweeper here. As a police magistrate he received an average of $300 a month. As a street sweeper he receives $1.50 a day. Stanton was elected police magistrate of East St. Louis two years ago, after filling the unexpired term of Magistrate Patrick McKane. The time and attention he gave to the office told on his health and he became a sufferer from stomach trouble. After he finished his day's work Stanton said: "I feel better than I have in several years, and I believe I am on the road to recovery."

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most mercurial enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up, I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, it's unequalled. Only 50c at all druggists.

Some Distances.

Distances between New York and San Francisco are as follows: Via Panama, 5,305 miles; via Tehuantepec, 4,415; direct by shortest transcontinental railway line, 3,191 miles and by way of Magellan straits, 13,089 miles. From the Hawaiian Islands to New York the distances are, by way of San Francisco, 5,288 miles; by way of Tehuantepec, 5,806 miles; by way of Panama, 6,686 miles, and by way of Magellan straits, 13,269 miles.

Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Wounds, Bruises, Cures Fever-Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Soon routs Piles. 25c at all druggists.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Special Few for Reporters.

The Rev. Joseph Chittard, pastor of St. Peter and Paul's Cathedral has a hatred of publicity, particularly with regard to his sermons, which are always masterpieces of oratory and usually well supplied with humor, one of his characteristics.

Not long ago he was showing a newspaper reporter through the cathedral when the two approached a pew, which, unlike the rest, had cards in it indicating rental. The new was almost directly under the pulpit.

"That's the pew for reporters," said the priest. "I have it convenient, where I can throw a book at them when they pull out their pencils."—Indianapolis Star.

CHAPTER XVIII.

RUNNION FINDS THE SINGING PEOPLE.

"NO CREEK" LEE came into the trading post on the following morning and found Gale attending store as if nothing unusual had occurred.

"Say! What's this about you and Stark? I hear you had a horrible run in and that you split him up the back like a quail!"

"We had a row," admitted the trader. "It's been a long time working out, and last night it came to a head."

"Lord—ee! And to think of Ben Stark being killed! Why, the whole camp's talking about it! They say he emptied two six shooters at you, but you kept a-comin', and when you did get to him you just carved your initials on him like he was a basswood tree. Say, John, he's a goner, sure."

"Do you mean he's passing out?"

"Oh, no. I reckon he'll get well, from what I hear, though he won't let nobody come near him except old Doc.
But he's lost a battle, and that does him. Don't you savvy? Whenever a killer quits second best it breaks his hoodoo. Why, there's been men layin' for him these twenty years from here to the Rio Grande, and every feller he ever bested will hear of this and begin to grease his holster; then the first shave he'll take a knife to make himself a name for himself. No, sir! He's a goner, sure. He's got to fight all his battles over again, and this time the other feller will open the ball. Oh, I've seen it happen before. You killed him last night, just as sure as if you'd hung up his hide to dry, and he knows it."

"I'm a peaceable man," said Gale on the defensive. "I had to do it."

"I know! I know! There was witnesses. This dressmaker at the fort saw it, so I hear."

The other acquiesced silently.

"Well, well! Ben Stark killed! I can't get over that. It must 'a' been somebody powerful strong to make you do it, John." When the old man vouchsafed no more than a nod to a question the prospector inquired:

"Where's Poleon? I've got news for him from the creek."

"I don't know. Why?"

"His laymen have give up. They've crossed his ground, and the pay ain't there, so they've quit work for good."

"He drew a blank, eh?"

"Worse'n that—three of them. The creek is spottedter than a leopard.
Runyon's men, for instance, are into it bigger than a house, while Poleon's people can't raise a color. I call it tough luck—yes, worse'n tough. It's hard billed and pickled. To them as hasn't shall be took even what they ain't got, as the poet says. Look at Necia! She'll be richer than a cream puff. Guess I'll step around and see her."

"She's gone," said the trader wearily, turning his haggard face from the prospector.

"Gone? Where?"

"Up river with Runyon. They got her away from me last night."

"Sufferin' snakes!" ejaculated Lee.
"So that's why? Then he added simply, 'Let's go and get her, John.'"

The trader looked at him queerly.

"Maybe I won't—on the first boat!
I'm eating my heart out hour by hour waiting—waiting—waiting for some kind of a craft to come, and so is Burrell."

"What's he got to do with it?" said the one-eyed miner jealously. "Can't you and me bring her back?"

"He'll marry her! God, won't there never be a boat?"

For the hundredth time that morning he went to the door of the post and strained his eyes downstream.

"Well, well! Them two got in to be married," said Lee. "Stark killed, and Necia goin' to be married—all at once.
I hate to see it, John. He ain't good enough. She could 'a' done a heap better. There's a lot of regular men around here, and she could 'a' had her pick. Of course, always bein' broke like a dog myself, I ain't kept up my personal appearance like I ought, but I've got some new clothes now, and you wouldn't know me. I bought 'em off a tender-foot with cold feet, but they're the goods, and you'd see a big improvement in me."

"He's a good man," said Gale, "better than you or me, and he's all torn up over this. I never saw a man act so. When he learned about it I thought he'd go mad. He's haunted the river bank ever since, raging about for some means of following her, and if I hadn't fairly held him he'd have set out single handed."

While they were talking Burrell came in, and "No Creek" saw that the night had affected the youth even more than it had Gale, or at least he showed the marks more plainly, for his face was drawn, his eyes were sunken as if from hunger, and his whole body seemed to have fallen away till his uniform hung upon him loose, unkempt and careless.

"I can't wait much longer," said Burrell and sank wearily into a seat. Almost the next instant he was on his feet again, saying to the trader, as he had said it a score of times already:
"Runyon comes to me, Gale! You understand he's mine, don't you?"

The old man nodded. "Yes; you can take him."

"Well, who do I get?" asked Lee.

"You can't come along," the trader said. "We may have to follow the hound clean to the States. Think of your mine."

"To blazes with the mine!" exploded the shaggy prospector. "I reckon I'm kind of a daddy to your gal, and I'm goin' to be in at the finish."

Suddenly the lieutenant uttered a cry, and with a bound Gale was beside him.

"Look! Over the point! Down yonder! I saw smoke!"

The three stared at the distant forest fringe that masked the bend of the river until their eyes ached.

"You're tired, my boy," said Gale.
"Wait."

He obeyed and finally over the trees topped a faint streamer of black.

"It is! It is!" cried the soldier.
"I'm going for my war bag." And before the steamboat had dove into sight he was back with his scanty bundle of baggage, behaving like one dazed, talking and laughing and running here and there. Lee watched him closely, then went behind the bar and poured out a stiff glass of whisky, which he made Burrell drink. To Gale he whispered a moment later:

"Keep your eye on him, John. He'll go mad at this rate."

They waited, it seemed interminably, until at last a white hill slowly rounded the point, then shaped a course across the current toward the other bank, where the water was less swift.
As it came fully into sight Gale swore aloud in despair:

"It's the mission boat!"

"Well, what of that?" said Burrell.
"We'll hire it—buy it—take it!"

"It's no use. She ain't got but three dog power to her engines," Lee explained. "She's a down river boat—has to run with the current to move."

"We can't use her," Gale gave in reluctantly. "She'd only lose time for us. We've got to wait for one of the
A. C. boats."

"Wait!" cried Burrell. "We've done nothing but wait, wait, wait! Let's do something!"

"You go back yonder and set down," commanded Lee. "We'll have a boat before long."

The arrival of the tiny mission steamer was never of sufficient importance to draw a crowd to the river

"I bring her back to you, m'sieu!"

bank, so the impatient men at the post relaxed interest in her as she came creeping up abreast of the town. It was little Johnny Gale who first saw Necia and Poleon on board, for he had recognized Father Barnum's craft at a distance and stationed himself at the bank hand in hand with Molly to bid the good, kind old man welcome.

locally "Minnicog." This is a pic-largest islands of the Georgian Bay, only 3 1/2 hours run by the Grand of Toronto, Canada, and beautifully situated among the 30,000 islands of

DEATH PENALTY IS ABOLISHED

By Illinois, Substituting Life Imprisonment.

Up to the Governor—Employers' Liability Bill, Championed by Illinois Federation of Labor

KILLED BY THE SENATE

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—The house, 81 to 43, passed the bill abolishing capital punishment. The bill was sent to the senate immediately and at the night session that body passed it. It now goes to the governor.

Senate Clears Decks.

The house passed several bills of more or less consequence, chief of which was one abolishing the capital punishment for murder.

The senate met for the purpose of receiving the three bills passed by the house this evening, including the bill abolishing capital punishment.

The senate also cleared all its own bills on third reading by tabling them and will only consider the house bills.

Among the bills killed by the senate was the employers' liability bill.

The saloon people claim that they have the license committee of the senate, to which was referred the house bill providing that cities and villages may vote on the question of saloons independent of the townships in which they are situated, but they are afraid now that they cannot muster enough votes in the senate to pass the bill. They had figured on twenty-eight votes but they have lost one and are fearful now of one or two others. They want to be sure before they have the bill reported out.

Waterway Bill Stopped.

It was thought that a deep waterway bill opposed to the senate or Deneen bill would probably pass the house tonight providing for the appointment of three engineers to consult with the government regarding the feasibility of the project, and appropriating $50,000 for the pay and expenses of the engineers, the engineers to be appointed by Governor Deneen, and Lyman Colley was expected to be one of them.

Lorimer, who received his commission from Governor Deneen as senator, conferred with Governor Deneen regarding the matter but the action of the house this evening throwing out all house bills on third reading disposed of this bill.

Tax Automobiles.

The senate passed the bill providing for a tax of $2.00 per year on automobiles in addition to the license fee. The bill now goes to Governor Deneen for signature. It will furnish $60,000 per year revenue if it becomes a law.

The senate passed the bill providing for a pension fund for police in cities under 50,000 population.

The house passed a bill for a tax levy of $6,100,000 for the school

Shake Out Old Glory to the Breeze

DO honor to an occasion which every loyal citizen of this great republic loves to observe.

We are showing right now some quality-clothes which would do honor to ANY occasion.

Take, for instance, those $20 and $25 suits; actually, every time we sell one of these suits we feel a satisfaction that's not measured by any profit we make; we know that we've made another friend. It's a pleasure to have business grow that way.

They're ROXBORO clothes, that always means absolute correctness in style, highest quality of materials, best tailoring. But it means more than usual in this case, for we've made it a special point to put unusual value into the garments—little added points here and there to make the biggest $20 and $25 worth possible.

If you think $12.50 or $15 is enough to pay for a suit, so do we; we've prepared a special benefit for you; 100 per cent pure wool or worsted; all the best of the season's models in a big range of choice patterns and colorings; all sizes, $12.50 and $15.00.

If you like real comfort in shirts, the comfort of good fit, of correct style and handsome patterns, "LOREX" shirts are for you. Custom made shirts at twice the price couldn't be any better or more pleasing. Probably you will be much interested in the ones with two collars and a cravat to match; beautiful patterns and only... $1.50

Straw Hats, also in a multitude of approved shapes and braids; a variety so broad as to afford hat-satisfaction to about every particular man in town.

Knox, at $4.00 and $5.00
Ludlow, at $3.00
Other select styles $1.00 to $2.50

35 DOZEN Men's Pure Silk "Onyx" Hose—a fortunate purchase from Lord & Taylor, the famous importers. The split heel sole makes them wear astonishingly well and they're twice as comfortable as ordinary silk hose. Economical, too, for, unlike regular silks, they can be darned. Be sure of this: Not every day will a dollar bill and a few pennies buy $1.50 and $2.00 values of such obvious quality.

INCOME TAX IS DEALT A BLOW

Senate Votes to Postpone Consideration.

Bailey Made Argument In His Usual Forcible Manner, But Lost—Two Amendments to Sugar

SCHEDULES ARE VOTED DOWN

Washington, D. C., May 28.—By a decisive vote of 50 to 31 the senate postponed until June 10 further consideration of the income tax question in connection with the tariff.

Consideration of the sugar schedule was continued, but after two amendments to it were voted upon the senate switched off to a discussion of the possibility of getting a vote on the Bailey income tax amendment. Bailey presented his argument for a vote in his usual forcible manner but did not succeed in prevailing upon Aldrich to concede a vote in advance of the tariff schedules. Aldrich declared that he would not agree to a vote on the income tax in advance of the schedules so long as he was in charge of the bill.

The amendments to the sugar schedule on which votes were taken were those eliminating the Dutch standard test from the tariff schedule and lowering the duty on refined sugar from 7.90 cents a pound to 1.82½ cents a pound. Both were defeated, the former 36 to 47, and the latter 32 to 53. On the first vote 11 Republicans voted with the Democrats for the amendment but on the second only five Republicans broke ranks.

It was considered somewhat significant that the two Louisiana senators, Foster and McEnery, the only senators representing a cane sugar producing state, should have been the only Democrats to vote with the Republicans on the Dutch standard provision, and this was made the more significant because of the fact that for the first time, the possibility of a sharp conflict between the cane sugar and beet sugar interests was indicated.

Cummins made this the text of a somewhat lengthy speech. The cane sugar men, did not, however, make response to his assertions.

In the main Cummins advocated the striking out of the Dutch standard test, and the provision in the sugar schedule for a differential rate on refined sugar. This action he thought would restrict the profits of the sugar trust, and thus cause that institution to lose its domination in the sugar trade, while on the other hand the beet sugar makers would be benefited.

No Meeting.

No meeting of the joint cemetery committee of the general council was held last night because of a failure to secure a quorum. Aldermen Potter and Durrett and Councilman Hannis were present, but the remainder of the members failed to appear and Robert Hicks, committee clerk, did not appear. Alderman Stewart and Councilmen Bowers and Duval were the absentees and the telephone failed to locate them. The sexton's house at Oak Grove cemetery needs repair, and several other questions were to come before the board.

A Precaution.

"Ma," said a newspaper man's son "I know why editors call themselves 'we.'"

"Why?"

"So's the man that doesn't like the article will think there are too many people for him to tackle."—Christian Work and Evangelist.

"I haven't anything to wear," she said.

"Neither have I," he replied; let's stay at home."

Taken up thus, there was nothing to do but hurry up and get ready.—Buffalo Express.

DIRIGIBLE FLIGHT IS MARRED

Spectator Causes Damage to Baldwin Balloon During Test.

North Arlington, N. J., May 28.—Captain Thomas F. Baldwin's flight in his new dirigible balloon, the main attraction of the West Hudson Aero club's carnival here, was marred by the carelessness of a spectator. He seized a guide rope, causing the craft to collide with a small tree, which damaged the propeller and made further flight impossible. Captain Baldwin was not injured. Before the mishap the dirigible sailed 150 yards making three complete turns.

A REWARD OFFERED.

Every electric railway in the United States knows the menace of "fake" accident claims and fraudulent suits. And no honest citizen exists who would not give assistance to prevent any such corrupt cause coming before our courts in the disguise of woe.

Sometimes the sad-faced rascal who is bringing suit was near an accident but did not receive a scratch; sometimes it is an innocent looking criminal who was not even near an accident; sometimes it is a person who was actually hurt but who was to blame himself or herself—and knows it.

Most of these suits arise when some penny-catching lawyer gets hold of a so-called "victim" as dishonest as himself and wants to "share the profits" of suing the Company.

How are such suits maintained?

By perjury.

By witnesses who do not tell the truth.

For evidence upon which a conviction, for perjury, of any witness against this Company in an accident damage suit is obtained, this Company will pay $500.00 at any time during twelve months from date of this offer!
